Bear Rebuilds After Fire

Estimate Loss Near $125,000

Within forty eight hours after a fire destroyed the magnesium handle processing building, Bear Archery, Division Victor Compotometer Corporation, started rebuilding. Company officials estimated that Bear would be back in full production of magnesium handles for its new Take-Down hunting and tournament bows by December 1, 1971.

The fire, which occurred Saturday, Sept. 18, was out of control for nearly two hours. Quick action by the Grayling Volunteer Fire Department prevented the blaze from spreading to a nearby drum storage area. The loss of the processing building and its contents were estimated to be in the neighborhood of $125,000. Cause of the fire is undetermined. A Company spokesman stated that the loss was covered by insurance.

A BULLDOZER levels the site for the new Bear Archery Magnesium Building in the background, with the concrete floor for the new barrel storage area in the foreground.

Bear, first in the industry to use magnesium in its Take-Down handle sections, introduced the handles to the trade a year ago. They are presently available in two lengths and seven colors. Handles are cast in Auburn, Mich. and shipped to the Grayling plant for finishing.

The Bear Sales Department, in a letter to its dealers, advised that sufficient model "A" and "B" handle sections were in inventory to meet present demands. The new Mg 1200 Tournament handle section, scheduled to be introduced in 1972, will be available for shipment to dealers by December 1, 1971.

Higgins Lake Board Formed

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The Higgins Lake Improvement Board was formally organized Wednesday, Sept. 22. Frank Carey, County Commissioner, was acting chairman until Thomas Robeson, Gerrish Township was elected chairman of the lake board.

I think the Department of Natural Resources made an excellent choice in appointing Hathaway Haines to the board. Haines developed the lake improvement act 345 of P.A. 1966. He has served on eight or ten lake improvement boards. He has an abundance of lake management experience that the lake board can draw from.

Other members of the lake improvement board are: Thomas Whitcomb, County Road Commissioner, Hiram Woodard, Lyon Township Supervisor and Andie Nielson, Beaver Creek Township Supervisor.

An air of enthusiasm was sensed as the board discussed their upcoming task with members of the Higgins Lake Property Owners. About 10 members of the Property Association were present at the meeting.

The group will welcome ideas from other citizens. All meetings will be open to the public so citizens can communicate with them.

Announcement was made of a meeting sponsored by the Higgins Lake Home Extension group. Dr. Clifford Humphrys, Michigan State University will be at the meeting to discuss his findings on Higgins Lake. The meeting will be in the Gerrish Township Hall, November 8, starting at 7:30 p.m.

OPEN HOUSE

Dr. Dosch and Dr. Burkley will hold Open House Sunday, Oct. 3, from two until six at their new office located at 1010 W. County Road.

Biologist Named To Lake Study At Houghton Lake

Dr. Spencer A. Peterson, aquatic biologist recently named to the staff of the Michigan Water Resources Commission inland lake study project at Houghton Lake, announces that a set of guidelines for inland lake property owners is now available from the Commission's Lansing office in the Steven T. Mason Building.

"Most inland lakeside residents are sincerely anxious to preserve the water quality of their lakes and the surrounding environment," said Dr. Peterson. "We hope these guidelines will answer many questions regarding lake preservation."

Before joining the Michigan project, Dr. Peterson was employed by the University of North Dakota as a limnological research assistant and investigated the aspects of nutrient control via harvest of aquatic plants. He was graduated from Sioux Falls College with a B.S. in biology and earned his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in fisheries biology and limnology (study of inland waters) from the University of North Dakota. One House Gains

Nearly everyone dismissed the proposal as impossible last winter when state Rep. Joe Swallow of Alpena announced he was starting a drive to change Michigan from a two house to a one house Legislature.

After all, only one state in the nation has a single house setup and that state — Nebraska — initiated its system back in 1934. There have been no followers.

Swallow also has to contend with the fact that many groups which might be favorably disposed to change can't really do much for him. They have to deal with the current Legislature and can't afford to offend lawmakers. Since Swallow's proposal would throw at least 72 lawmakers out of work by cutting the number of legislators to 78.

Biggest shot in the arm by far came when the state Junior Chamber of Commerce voted to back the drive at its state convention. The move means that a statewide organization which has proven its ability to circulate petitions is now actively in the one house corner.

The Jaycees were instrumental in the petition drive which produced the constitutional convention 10 years ago.

Rep. Jim Brown (R-East Lansing) was the first to join Swallow in supporting the unicameral concept. Rep. Dennis O. Cawthorne (R-Manistee) was second. Swallow's resolution asking for a referendum on the unicameral Legislature was introduced with the sponsorship of 19 representatives, so the drive is picking up steam. Many lawmakers are privately worried that if the proposal does make it on the 1972 ballot a disgruntled public will approve it as a means of "getting even" with the lawmakers by insuring that at least 72 of them have to go job hunting.

State Sen. Basil Brown of Detroit voiced the fear on the floor of the Senate recently when he was complaining about the inaction of the Legislature on the state budget for the current fiscal year.

"We couldn't be doing Joe Swallow a bigger favor if we wanted to," he said. "Both houses of this two house Legislature are sitting around doing nothing. The voters may decide that if two houses do nothing, one house can do nothing just as easily."

The drive, of course, still has a long way to go and is far from being successful. The point is that it isn't dead yet, and that in itself is a strong indication the idea is hitting a responsive note with a lot of voters.

Equilibrium When?

A concerned editor wrote recently that, "Perhaps rather than spending our time arguing between growth or no growth, we should first of all attempt to define the point at which equilibrium is desirable. In view of the finiteness of resources, I believe it is impossible to deny the fact that that point does exist."

There is no question but that there is such a finite point and the resources of the spaceship Earth have their limitations. But, who is to determine the point of equilibrium, and who is to enforce it? Who among the young people in our population would in the interests of saving resources decide not to improve their standard of living? How many would decide not to have children in order to stabilize the population? Equilibrium, so far as population growth and increased consumption are concerned, is inevitable. But, as yet, this appears to be a long way in the future unless we resort to compulsion and arbitrary restriction of the reproduction and consumption habits of U.S. citizens, as well as those of the rest of the Earth's people. This is equilibrium "Big Brother" style, which, so far, seems to be both unacceptable and unenforceable.

Destitute Spoiled Brats

Work, they say, keeps people out of mischief. Perhaps this is so. The productivity of the American system certainly seems to have given an excessive number of critics the time and the money to demonstrate against nearly everything that has occurred on the North American continent since the landing of the Mayflower.

Statistics are pretty dry things, but a few of them may help explain the extra curricular activities of the flag stompers. For example, one American farmer produces enough to feed himself and 42 others. In France, one farm worker can feed about six. The ratio is about five in Italy, and in China one farm worker produces only enough for himself and one other person. Last year, the U. S. produced as much in goods and services as all of the U.S.S.R., Japan, West Germany, France and the United Kingdom combined. The population of these countries is 2.5 times that of the United States.

Probably at no time has it taken less effort than in the U. S. today to acquire the essentials of individual survival, and many are showing their appreciation by acting like the spoiled brats of a rich family. Probably they will come to the same end — shiftless and destitute.

High School Staff Plans Changes

The Grayling High School teaching staff has decided this year to take a close look at revising several curriculum areas in order to provide a more flexible curriculum with increased course offerings.

High School Principal Charles Batway, has identified as high priority consideration the revision of courses in Shop, Home Economics, English and Art. Mr. Batway states that these courses have traditionally been labeled Shop I, II, III, English I, II, III, etc., and have been so all encompassing that they make it difficult to tailor a student's course of study to his particular interest.

Changes envisioned will enable students to elect such courses as Electricity I or II, Woods I or II, Ceramics, Metal I, Sewing, Child Care, Home Management, Contemporary Literature, American Poetry, Basic Composition, etc., on a one semester rather than a yearly basis.

Housing Choices? Land Use
Have Ecological ImplicationsBy Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The United States is an extremely mobile society. About 20 percent of our citizens move every year, says Carlton Edwards, extension housing specialist at Michigan State University.

This mobility places a great burden on housing facilities. Many young families find that, for their needs, an apartment, a condominium or even a mobile home is the best and most economical choice, he says.

But, for the large remainder who still seek the privacy and permanence of a one-family house, Mr. Edwards points out some characteristics of land use to consider. These are likely to affect the quality of local environments, and your enjoyment of your home.

1. Houses built on hillsides or river floodplains are susceptible to damage by natural forces.

2. Houses built in low areas, or near water, may have insect problems.

3. Many housing subdivisions are constructed at the expense of valuable agricultural land, and consumers needn't support such misuse.

4. When parks and open areas must be turned over to housing lots, it's a good indication that an area's population is too dense.

5. A relatively small investment can often renovate old buildings which would otherwise be destroyed.

6. Residential areas should have a land use plan indicating where housing, recreation, business, industrial and public facilities should be built.

7. Homes with plenty of trees and grass are likely to be cleaner, cooler and quieter.

8. Families located near mass transit systems won't have to use private transportation which often congests highways, pollutes the air and wastes time and energy.

All of these decisions are important to individual home buyers, Mr. Edwards says. But consumers can exert the most pressure on housing trends by acting collectively — working on bond issues, participating in zoning decisions, making business investments, etc.

Victor Chairman Buehler Dies

Chicago - Albert Carl Buehler, board chairman of Victor Comptometer Corporation of which Bear Archery is a division, and well known industrial philanthropist, died September 23 at Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital after a brief illness. He was 74 years old.

Mr. Buehler, who was Victor's ninth employee, joined the company in 1921, three years after its founding. He became chairman of the board in 1932.

Mr. Buehler had long been a behind-the-scenes supporter of numerous youth, education, and hospital activities and programs. He was a member of the board and executive committee of Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital, and a member and former chairman of the board of trustees of Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

His support of youth activities was widespread, and he served on numerous committees of the Lincoln-Belmont YMCA, the Chicago YMCA, and the Countryside YMCA. He was also a major sponsor of the Neighborhood Boys Club at Chicago's Paul Revere Park. Last July, he was named 1971's "Good Scout" by the Northwest Suburban Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

ship officials, finance and accounting; adopting local ordinances; special assessment districts; collection of personal property tax; and procedures in appeals, equalization and allocation, all subjects of extreme interest to township citizens.

Supervisor Smith urged all Township Officials in the 10th North Congressional District (Alcona, Antrim, Crawford, Iosco, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Ogemaw, Osceola and Rosecommon Counties) to attend the meeting.

Colonel Joseph A. Farisi, Jr., Executive Director of the Michigan Townships Association, will have general charge of the meeting.

Lay-Witness Mission Here

The Michelson Memorial Church will be host to a Lay Witness Mission on the weekend of October 1, 2, and 3. Lay People from across the Michigan, Ohio and Indiana borders will be coming to Grayling to lead the M. M. Church and the community in a deepening and broadening of the Christian faith.

Under the direction of Harold Saucerman, an United Methodist Layman from Youngstown, Ohio, five youth and fifteen adults will talk with adults and youth about the Christian faith: what it means in a man or woman's personal life; how it helps to solve definite private, home and social problems; how it brings meaning and purpose for living.

The M. M. Church has been planning for over two months for this weekend. Some 100 lay people are involved in organizing the congregation and inviting the community to this weekend experience. The mission will actually begin with 24 hour prayer vigil the day before. Then on Friday evening, Oct. 1, a 6:30 pot-luck dinner is planned to which the whole community is welcomed. At that time, these twenty men, women, and youth, who live the same life that every one of us must live, but who have found a power and a new dimension for living, will begin to share around the dinner table what it means to be tuned in and turned on by God.

Saturday will have a host of different events, ranging from Koffee Klatches, luncheons, and a question and answer period. Then the mission will climax with three great services. First will be the two regular Sunday morning services of worship at 8:30 and 11:00 a.m. led by Mr. Saucerman and his team. Then that evening at 7:30 p.m. everyone will gather at the Church to testify to the power of the weekend in their lives and to bind themselves closer to God through Holy Communion service.

Freedom
 We hear a lot these days about "freedom." It is a word used by many groups and individuals, in almost the same breath they use to criticize society and "the establishment."
 If we listen carefully, sometimes, we learn that these individuals are not talking about freedom as many of us know it. Theirs is not freedom of choice, but freedom from responsibility. For some, freedom is disassociation, rejection of the moral and social values that many of us hold so important to the business of successful living.
 Those who profess such "freedom" can seldom achieve happiness. The pursuit of self-satisfaction offers little reward to any man. Happiness is found in productive effort, in contribution. Happiness is positive; it never comes to those who sit on the sidelines and scornfully watch the world go by.

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT
 ...and get more from the GOOD YEARS
 By Francis Nugent

How do you find a retirement hobby? Such was the question of a man who retired after 25 years as a busy salesman who seldom found any "spare" time and who had no interest in life other than selling.
 When the time comes that you want or need a hobby, you simply go out and find one. We asked our ex-salesman friend a simple question: "How would you find a selling prospect?" His reply: "I would look for someone who had need for the product I had to sell."
 The first step in his retirement hobby search took him to the public library. He found many books about hobbies, describing in full detail just about everything one needed to know and to acquire to get into the hobby of shellcraft, woodworking, painting, etc.
 When he found something that interested him, he asked about the community and discovered that some of his neighbors had the same interest. He made a personal call, found neighbors friendly, cooperative and willing to help him get started on his own.
 That's how simple it is. If you want a retirement hobby, go out and find one—just as you would a potential customer if you were still in the selling game.

At least the Klan is honest

When Robert Miles wrote that nasty letter about me, several years ago, I didn't know he was Grand Dragon of the Michigan Ku Klux Klan.

I figured he was just one more in a long line of unhappy readers who think I should hang up my typewriter and return to the Chrysler assembly line. Except Miles' letter was more articulate than most, and more full of venom. And it bugged me because I couldn't figure from it exactly what I'd written to turn him so far off.

But I soon found out. The letter appeared in the Press in Livingston County where Miles lives. The editor filled me in on Miles' undersheet activities. Such a fine fellow could hardly be expected to think much of a jerk like me. It isn't just that I'm continually rapping the racists. Gosh, I even wrote that my college daughter was welcome to date a Negro, and bring him home for Christmas dinner, if she could find a black boy who would forgive her white skin.

Statements like that really upset a Kluxer, even the more modern type such as Miles. In recent years he has courted publicity, inviting the press to Klan meetings, and he generally comes off as a reasonable, likable, nonviolent man who doesn't hate Negroes. He just doesn't want black and white mixing and he can probably show you in the Bible where God feels the same way.

Miles is currently in the headlines because of his arrest by the FBI for conspiracy in connection with the bombing of school buses in Pontiac. I find it hard to believe he is that dumb—or the FBI is that smart. But that's for the courts to decide.

I don't find it hard to believe that Miles would be against busing to achieve racial integration. But thousands of people are against that—people who are horrified by the Klan. That's the sad thing. You don't have to be a Kluxer to be opposed to mixing black and white.

You can be a white liberal who attends fund-raising parties for the Black Panthers. You might even be black. But when it comes to Black Joe climbing into bed with White Jane, you see red. You want to throw up. Heck, you're still having trouble accepting Catholics marrying Protestants, Isadore Steinberg courting Rosie O'Grady, and the Lone Ranger bunking so close to Tonto.

That's what it's all about; the tattered old bromide: "Would you want your sister to marry one?"

The cocktail-hour liberals can give you a lot of doubletalk about how they want to improve the lot of the black man. But most of them talk from behind their trimmed hedges and precious property-values in Suburbia. They'd welcome a black neighbor as long as he is Willie Mays or Ralph Bunche. Otherwise, there goes the neighborhood and you can't blame a man for protecting his investment, can you?

At least Miles and his Klan are honest. They're dead against "mongrelization" of the white race. And they know the surest way to prevent White Jane from marrying Black Joe is to keep a fence between them. The Klan works to keep that fence strong and the men in sheets get a lot of help from hypocrites who say the fence is a terrible thing—except where it touches their backyard. And please don't put any windows in it.

The Klan and the hypocrites are equally wrong, as time will prove. The only real answer is "mongrelization." Love thy neighbor, like The Man said. As viewed from the moon, we are all neighbors.

The world will be a better place when none of us give a damn who our sister marries, just so long as she gets the guy she wants and he treats her right.

Which opinion should bring another letter from Mr Miles. †

Jack Pine's Stump

This is an odd sort of in-between time of the year in Crawford County. Effective trout fishing is done, and bow and arrow season doesn't start until Friday. Bird hunting isn't any good with all the foliage. And the beautiful fall colors haven't come on yet. Fishing for chinook and coho can be had in the great lakes, but the government now comes out with a warning about eating too much chinook. I guess it's sort of in-between time for Jack Pine, too. I really haven't got too much to write about — a fact which Bert the Barber will agree with. He heaped great abuse upon the head of Jack Pine the other day for the article on hummingbirds. Of course, I could have written about Bert I suppose. He does flit about, hums and vibrates and is interesting to watch. But he never sat on my sidewalk on a Saturday morning.

— JP —
Last Wednesday, the day the Avalanche appeared, there was a complete article on hummingbirds in the Alpena News. It was written by a fellow named O. B. Enstis, who writes a column called "OBE'S DIARY". He reported that he actually heard a hummingbird hum. He also says that he enjoys the Jack Pine column. A man who watches hummingbirds and likes Jack Pine can't be all bad — or can he?

— JP —
Few things can be more annoying than to have someone go on talking when you're interrupting.

— JP —
According to an article in "Bits and Pieces", a man who had just been promoted to Vice President of his company boasted so to his wife that she finally retorted, "Vice Presidents are a dime a dozen. Why, in the supermarket they even have a vice president in charge of prunes." Furious, the husband phoned the supermarket in the expectation of refuting his wife. He asked to speak to the vice president in charge of prunes. "Which kind?" was the reply. "Packaged or bulk?"

— JP —
These Johnny-come-lately environmentalists give me a pain in the intellect. They weep and wail about something called vanishing species without knowing what they are talking about. They blather on about how hunters are killing off all the game and how important life is — all the while eating a pork chop or a piece of chicken or a juicy steak. It would never occur to these bleeding hearts that pigs, cattle and chickens are raised in captivity for the sole purpose of being slaughtered. No, they prefer to forget that, and jump on the recreational hunter as the be-all and end-all cause of animal death. They don't know that if it wasn't for the hunter in this country there would be a lot less animals than there are now. They don't know that fifty or sixty years ago there was actually less game in most species than there is now. They don't know — or care — that in 1970 American sportsmen provided over $235 million for protection and management of the nation's wildlife resources. Hunters and fishermen spent more than $192 million for licenses, tags, permits and stamps. This money is used by the States to protect and manage all wildlife and fish resources — not just game animals. And in addition to that, $43 million was made available to wildlife agencies through the Federal Aid in Fish and Wildlife Restoration programs. These monies come from excise taxes on sporting arms and ammunition and on certain fishing tackle. This money, by the way, originally started as a tax requested by sportsmen on their equipment. The idea was, and still is, that the money be used specifically for wildlife management and restoration. It is a self-imposed tax.

The whole problem is complex and involves many factors best left to the professionals. Factors like the balance of nature and available food supply. The hunter, basically, has no effect on game. I suppose the whole ruckus got started with the Viet Nam war and the general build-up of a resentment towards killing. It is far easier for a young person to piously say he is against killing than to specifically say he is against killing people. All of us are against killing, but killing and hunting are different things. And if these armchair environmentalists don't believe that, let them visit a slaughterhouse some day or watch a turkey farmer force-grow turkeys with hormones just so the plastic conservationists can complain on a full stomach the day after Thanksgiving.

Sir,
I shall leave to Trout Unlimited and Dr. William Priest any answer they may see fit to make to "Jack Pine's" gratuitous and peevish attack upon them in last week's issue.

What Trout Unlimited has done for trout fishing and the environment in Michigan is obvious to any who are not too blind to see, and need no defense from me.

Jack Pine, whoever he may be, may exercise his option not to join Trout Unlimited again. He may also continue to defend the indefensible: the avaricious exploitation of a major resource.

On the other hand, I am under no obligation to support him and the Avalanche financially, nor to receive his mendacious paranoias into my house. I am also at liberty to decline to spend money in a community which refuses to come to terms with an abominable abuse merely because, over the short term, it makes the cash registers ring. Crawford County Board of Commissioners Proceedings

Regular meeting of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners held in the Court House in the City of Grayling on the 13th day of September 1971.

Meeting was called to order by Chairman Earl H. Longworth. Invocation by Mr. Kauffman.

Roll Call. George P. Dunckley, Lawrence E. Gust, Fred Kauffman, Leonard H. Knibbs, Earl H. Longworth, Bernard Maurer, Albert Westervelt. All Present.

Mr. Knibbs informed the Board of the Emergency Employment Act of 1971. He had attended a regional meeting at Alpena at which the program was explained and requirements for participation in the program were detailed. The federal government, in an effort to get people back to work, has allocated $8,000,000 to the State of Michigan for the purpose of creating public sector jobs and alleviating unemployment problems in counties of less than 75,000 population. Crawford County's allocation is $26,700 per county, effective September 23, 1971. Power to distribute these funds is vested solely in the County Board of Commissioners, with a caucus being formed composed of county commissioners, road commissioners, school officials, township officials.

Chairman appointed Mr. Knibbs, administrator, to implement the Emergency Employment Act program. It was the wish of the Board to meet as a committee as a whole in a special meeting Wednesday, September 15 at 7:00 o'clock p.m. COMMITTEE REPORTS:

Mr. Maurer reported on Building Letter from Mr. Al Harland, Maintenance Engineer and Custodian, notified the Board of his resignation effective September 19, 1971. Building Committee recommended that Charles Eastery, Assistant Custodian, take over this position.

MOTION by Maurer, supported by Kauffman, that Mr. Charles Eastery be appointed custodian of Crawford County Building with salary of $475.00 per month which is being paid at present to Building Custodian, Maurer. Kauffman, Dunckley, Longworth, Westervelt. All Aye. Knibbs, Gust. No. Motion Carried.

MOTION by Gust, supported by Knibbs, to advertise in the local paper for the position of Assistant Custodian, after which the Personnel Committee and Building Committee will jointly appoint Assistant Custodian, Roll Call. All Aye. Motion Carried.

Mr. John Alet and Mrs. Lora Gould and a body of seventy-one interested people came before the Board in behalf of the Senior Citizens' Program in Crawford County. They asked for a definite answer as to whether or not the county will appropriate the funds in the amount of $6,500.00 necessary to fund this program in 1972. Many individuals spoke of what this program means to them and to the four hundred people registered in this program. Others spoke of the nationwide publicity and leadership of Crawford County's program.

MOTION by Kauffman, supported by Longworth, to appropriate $6,500.00 to the Senior Citizens' Program of Crawford County in the budget for 1972. Roll Call. Kauffman, Longworth, Dunckley, Knibbs, Maurer. All Aye. Gust, Westervelt — No. Motion Carried.

Mr. Lou Cramton, State Representative of 103rd District, spoke to the Board about the controversy regarding canoists on the AuSable River. Department of Natural Resources has assured him that they will be reasonable. Before finalizing their rules, the public will be able to speak at two hearings at least. Advance notification of the hearings has been promised, and he stressed as many as possible should come to give their views to the Commission. House Conservation Committee affirms that there will be definite control of the streams, but it may be modified. Board fears there is danger that all recreation — camping, canoeing and fishing — will be on permit system.

Mr. Cramton and Chairman Longworth recommended the element of support by the public, and requested correspondence from county citizens be directed to Department of Natural Resources and to senators and representatives because of county wide concern.

MOTION by Gust, supported by Kauffman, to approve the hiring of new employee in the Equalization Department at an annual salary of $7,000.00. Roll Call. Gust, Kauffman, Knibbs, Longworth, Maurer, Westervelt. All Aye. Dunckley — No. Motion Carried.

Correspondence from Equalization Director advised the Board does not have the authority to refund taxes paid on an erroneous description, according to Sec. 211.53 of General Property Tax Law. Authority for reimbursement is given to the Board of Review at a special meeting on the Tuesday after the second Monday in December.

Correspondence from Emil L. Kraus, Probate Judge, gave notification of the appointment of two members to the State Boundary Commission in connection with annexation of 480 acres in Grayling Township consisting of Industrial Park, Golf Course and I-75 Business Loop. Mr. John H. Alet and Mr. Alfred J. Sorenson were the appointees. Their duties will necessitate two or three trips to Lansing which must be reimbursed by the County.

Week-end Training Schedule for Camp Grayling for Fall 1971 was presented.

House Bill No. 5609 was presented, which would provide for an increase of tax on state owned land from 20 cents to 40 cents or 50 cents per acre.

Correspondence from Crawford County Townships Association requested notification to townships involved before action is taken by the Board pertaining to townships.

Mr. Lawrence Hunter, Registrar of Deeds, met with the Board and requested secretarial help for Registrar of Deeds' Office, due to the fact that more than 1200 transfers of property were processed after July 1st. This was referred to the Personnel Committee working with the Finance Committee.

Mr. William Valusek, Mr. George Stevenson of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone Bonding Attorneys, and Mr. John Osborne, representing Northeast Michigan Planning Commission, met with the Board regarding establishing a Department of Public Works. One method of financing water and sewer improvements to the new Holiday Inn and shopping center immediately adjacent is to establish Department of Public Works, to be appointed and dismissed by the Board of Commissioners, and responsible to them. Other incidental operations would include sanitary land fills. County would contract with local municipalities to finance original installation, which would provide cheaper method of securing revenue bonds. County bonds plus interest would then be paid by City of Grayling and Grayling Township by contracts with full faith and credit pledge.

MOTION by Maurer, supported by Gust, that Crawford County Board of Commissioners does hereby establish a Department of Public Works, and adopt the following resolution. Maurer, Gust, Knibbs, Longworth, Westervelt. All Aye. Dunckley, Kauffman — No. Motion Carried.

RESOLUTION WHEREAS, there exists, and will exist in the future, in the County of Crawford, a need for water, sewer and refuse disposal facilities and lake improvements, to be acquired, constructed and financed between a and within the various municipal units of government therein to protect the public health and welfare of the County and its residents; and

WHEREAS, Act 185, Public Acts of Michigan, 1957, as amended, offers a sound and practical method of acquiring, constructing and financing such type of facilities and improvements through and by the County in manner provided in said Act; and

WHEREAS, this Board of Commissioners has carefully reviewed the question of establishing a County Board and Department of Public Works and has studied the legal, financial and organizational aspects relative to establishment of such a Department; and

WHEREAS, the aforesaid Act 185 authorizes the Board of Commissioners of any county, by resolution adopted by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of its members, to establish a department of public works for the administration of the powers conferred upon the county by the terms of said Act; and

Supports Local Subdivision Controls

By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

"Townships must pass an ordinance if they want more control over subdivision of land," Robert S. D'Amelio, Department of Treasury told a Gerrish Township group Thursday, Sept. 16.

The meeting was one of a series of meetings called by a Gerrish Township Citizens' Committee headed by Otto Krauss.

D'Amelio went on to say that controls protect people from themselves often times. They prevent people from building in areas subject to flooding, or areas where septic tanks will not function. Besides these reasons for local controls, they protect buyers from a very few developers who are not careful to protect their customers. Another reason for controls is for community improvement.

Townships can make their ordinances as strict as they want as long as they are not considered unreasonable, he said.

Enforcement of such township ordinances are up to the township board. They may hire policing officers to do the enforcement, but the responsibility still remains with the township board.

The county prosecutor is an important part of township ordinance enforcement.

The citizen's committee was appointed by the Gerrish Township Board in order to study local conditions, ordinances and means of controlling land use in order to protect the lake and guide future development.

Past Kalkaska, 54-0

Coach Chuck Mires
Asst. Lacey Stephan

Last Thursday evening the young Vikings extended their winning streak over two seasons for nine games with a 54-0 rout of Kalkaska.

Grayling held a 38-0 halftime lead with everyone on the team seeing considerable action.

Fullback Kevin Zimmerman scored three times and tailback Walt Kozicki scored twice with quarterbackbacks, Chris Dunckley and Randy Sajdak mixing their running and passing plays well.

Dunckley and Sajdak hit on 4 of 9 and 7 of 14 pass attempts respectively. Bert Kaiser lead the receivers with 5 catches good for 77 yards.

Chris Weaver, Jim Benedict and Dee Mead lead the aggressive Grayling defense. A hard and fast changing front line bottled up the Kalkaska ground game and when they went to the air Jim Bobenmoyer intercepted two aeriels to assure the JV's shutout.

This Thursday at 7 p.m. the Grayling JV's will host the Clare JV's in a game recently added to the schedule.
